

The voice of F1, Murray Walker OBE, passed away on 13 March 2021 at the age of 97 ... RIP Murray

Murray commentated on his first grand prix at Silverstone in 1949 and he became a full-time commentator for the BBC in 1978. Later he moved to ITV and by the time he retired in 2001 he had covered over 350 events. He was respected by drivers and fans alike and many motor sport legends have paid wonderful tributes to him.

Murray's early career was in advertising and he worked for Dunlop, Aspro and Esso before joining an advertising agency where he increased the billing dramatically.

He was well known for his 'Murrayisms' and one of the most well-known - 'Unless I am very much mistaken yes I am very much mistaken' - is the title given to his autobiography.
