

Keep your DVLA documents and reference numbers safe

It is important to keep the reference numbers and codes displayed on your DVLA documents confidential.

The specific risk is that a scammer could steal the rights to your personalised registration without you knowing it if, for instance, you published your Retention Document on an online platform intending to sell the registration.

James Saperia of Simply Registrations has published a blog outlining which codes to keep safe and shows you exactly where they appear on many DVLA documents.
